

Loop Page – What is the Loop Page for?

In the Loop page view, you will be able to edit one sample at a time. This page allows you to edit the currently viewed selected sample, regardless of the ALL/SELECT setting in the Program List. However, it is important to note that the loop playback mode can be set for multiple samples as well.

The Loop editor allows you to set start and end points for a sample, as well as a sustain loop and a release loop.

All editing affects both left and right channels of a stereo file (or all 6 channels in a 5.1 surround file). The buttons at the top right of the Loop window allow you to switch the view between the left/right channels of a stereo file (or between the channels in a surround file).
